

THE CITY.—Notwithstanding the gloomy aspect of the weather, and the business-like appearance of the city yesterday, we did not hear of any news of interest on the streets—not even a rumor.

Two steamboats arrived with sick and wounded Confederate soldiers, who were taken on the field at Murfreesboro by our forces, and kindly provided for, as best they could under the circumstances. They were removed from the boats, and distributed in the different hospitals in this city, where they will be kindly and carefully treated.

A lot of sixty-five rebel prisoners started to Baltimore, escorted by Captain Pagan and Lieutenant Tindell, with a guard belonging to the Thirty-fourth Kentucky. Rather a cold climate to be taking Southerners at this time of year. The wharf presented a very lively appearance. It almost seemed an impossibility to get on board the Grey Eagle—the whole wharf being blocked with crabs, wagons, carts, freight, &c. We looked on to see what would happen, and were pleased to say we did not see any disorderly conduct on the part of any one—with the exception of a mule, which kicked a negro backward of a cart. There were no arrivals at the Military Prison, and all was quiet inside and in front. We did not even see a fight, though there was an alarm of fire about six o'clock, which might have caused a dog fight, through the excitement, but the dog from "the country" gave leg-bail, which spoiled the sport of a lot of young Americans, who were looking for a fight.

No one was knocked down and robbed—an occurrence that frequently occurs in the city of late. The police court did a small business. The police were busy engaged in "looking about," but we believe couldn't find the one they were looking for.

The dry goods houses did a very fair amount of business, judging from the many young ladies we noticed on the sidewalks. About noon snow-flakes began to kiss their rosy cheeks, and the clerk of the weather, thinking it would be wasting snow to have it melt upon them, had it stopped about 4 o'clock, P. M. The name of Miss Charlotte Thompson was in "Young America's" mouth, and, as the star of the city, she was the place of amusement in the city, of course Miss Charlotte was complimented with a large and fashionable audience. Every one present came away with their minds deeply impressed with the image and performance of "Fanchon." The city yesterday was "the city."

LOUISVILLE STEAM FIRE DEPARTMENT.

M. P. PAUL, Chief Engineer.

Number of men, stationary and otherwise, attached to each company; also, the number of horses, with the quantity of hose used by each:

ATWOOD, COMPANY No. 1.

Charles Hick, Engineer—Stationary men, 6; runners, 2; hose in use, 900 feet; number of horses, 4.

GILLIES, COMPANY No. 2.

Henry Hick, Engineer—Stationary men, 6; runners, 2; number of horses, 4; hose in use, 900 feet.

WATERFORD, COMPANY No. 3.

Charles Hick, Engineer—Stationary men, 6; runners, 2; hose in use, 900 feet.

SARGENT, COMPANY No. 4.

George W. Levi, Engineer—Stationary men, 6; runners, 2; hose in use, 900 feet.

VATKINS, COMPANY No. 5.

E. H. Hughes, Engineer—Stationary men, 6; runners, 2; hose in use, 900 feet.

HOOKE AND LADDER, COMPANY No. 6.

P. C. Paul, Captain—Stationary men, 2; runners, 2; hose in use, 450 feet.

Total—Men, 37; engines, 6; horses, 22; hose and ladder, 1; hose, 4,500 feet.

UNREST.—This is the season for families to make themselves comfortable in their homes; and among all the appliances of mechanical ingenuity, and the various articles necessary to render a man's house a place of comfort, there is nothing that gives more real and fashionable comfort than the style of his house-furnishing and bed room arrangements.

To all in search of an establishment where they will be certain to find the best mattresses, of all kinds, blankets, comforts, pillowcases, and all the necessaries of a comfortable home, we cordially commend the establishment of Messrs. Weinhold & Co., of this city. These gentlemen have a large and extensive stock of furniture, and are well known in the business, and now we want of the community, to satisfy those wants. A trial will satisfy all that we speak of.

One D. W. Holland was about to leave the cars for Nashville, when he was brought him up, stating that he had been arrested by the officers, and put him in the lock-up. They recovered from him a number of small packages, the sum of four thousand dollars, bogus money. This money is in one's, two's, five's and ten's—all well bills—on the "Free State Bank of the D. C.," at Washington—signed W. H. Barnes, Cashier, and R. Ross, President. The notes are well-executed, with the stamp of the New York Bank Note Co. They all have green backs, and are endorsed, "secured by special deposit, with S. A. Mills, Banker, 51 Exchange Place, New York."

It is supposed that this money was to be invested in cotton, and that Holland is either a sharper himself, or the agent of a set of sharpers. The matter will undergo investigation.

THEATRE.—To say that Miss Thompson's performance of "Fanchon" last night was beautiful, would be a poor and tame expression. She made "Little Cricket" beloved by all who witnessed her wonderful impersonation. There is much in the character that drew the admiration and esteem of every right thinking person, and into this character of truth she threw such a native as rendered "Fanchon" a most charming person. She was generally well supported, too, especially by the performance of Father Barband was very superior in every respect.

Miss Thompson's engagement is rapidly drawing to a close, and we advise those who have not witnessed her truthful and most excellent impersonation to go tonight. There is a good one, no doubt will draw another crowded house.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Tuesday, Jan. 27.

Mary Onhill, drunk and disorderly; bail in $100 for two months.

G. W. Wilson, charged with stealing a horse; continued.

John Herz, Thomas Ackers, John Zimmers, charged with shooting and wounding William Kipp; Ackers and Zimmers were discharged, and John Herz was held over in $600 to answer the charge.

Mr. R. H. Courtney, formerly the efficient clerk in the Southern Bank, was yesterday sworn in as Notary Public of Jefferson county. Mr. Courtney will fill his new position with the same satisfaction and energy that he has in the one he so long and faithfully occupied in the bank.

We are requested to announce that the funeral of Col. Sam'l McKee, late of the Third Kentucky Volunteer Infantry, will take place this afternoon at two o'clock, from the Chestnut-street Presbyterian Church.

We call the attention of our readers to the notice of the superintendent of the Louisville and Nashville railroad in this morning's paper.

The alarm of fire last evening was caused by the burning of a chimney on Second street. No damage done.

A lot of soldiers came in on the train from some point on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad yesterday.

Will Harrington favored us with latest Nashville papers last evening, for which he has our thanks.

Mr. Mosier, the messenger of the Adams Express Co., has our thanks for late papers.

Thank has our thanks for late files of Eastern papers.

(Correspondence Louisville Democrat.)
From Louisville, Tennessee.
SATURDAY NIGHT, Jan. 24, 1863.
Messrs. Editors: The weather has moderated, and is decidedly pleasant. The waters of the Cumberland still slowly recede from the banks, and the channel each day grows more shallow. We would gladly bid the pleasant days adieu, and warmly welcome the driving storm, well knowing that the waves would rise higher in the river banks, and thus render navigation doubly sure. If the river keeps falling, for many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster of the Mary Crane, the boats kept falling back, many days the rebels will throw their banks thicker than ever, and their daring project of a raid on this side of the Cumberland will be accomplished, when you will hear of one of the "darkest nights" at Clarksville since the days of fifteen cent shows and "wax figures." Without doubt the rebels will exert every possible means to stop navigation on the Cumberland, and their recent successes in destroying Government transports, they will keep a sharp look-out for all boats passing up and down the river, and pepper them with their deadly musketry and artillery. The fleet came down from Nashville yesterday, and growing prudent by the blundering disaster

50 do 25 ear do;
75 do German Soap;
and for sale by
MARSHALL HALBERT & CO.

CASES.—
20 boxes Star Candles;
50 do Metal do: in store and for sale by
MARSHALL HALBERT & CO.

CASES CONCENTRATED LYE FOR SALE BY
J. L. EDWARD WILDER, 314 Main st.

